[Updated]

Barry of Wrath is a hack and slash team-based, mixed combat, strategy game where you play as a lowly farmer. Now the lowly farmer is expected to save the world from the age old enemy known as Citadel. The once small faction known as Citadel has united and grown in stature. They push forward in an ominous power grab enslaving anyone that resists. The aging king Krump stands in their way and he enlists an unassuming Orc named Barry into his legion to help stop the forces of Citadel. Barry is just a small town farmer. but is now expected to topple the likes of Sernie Banders and Pancy Neurosis. Unite with the King's daughter and other obnoxious characters to form your band of rag-tag heroes and bring down the empire of Citadel. Make them all feel.. The Barry of Wrath.

----- This is the 6th title from Wolfs Moon Studios. Players can expect over 20 hours of game play. *Featuring an exciting combat system with 10 different status effects to keep the players on their toes with the need to regularly adjust their battle tactics (No more constantly spamming your favorite ability every turn). *A total of 11 different playable characters. *A veteran experience system which allows customization of each character. *Over 200 different enemy types *A deep & vibrant soundtrack made up of 65 songs altogether. Pathfinder Adventures - Epic And Legendary Cards 1 Features Key:

- Six Playing fields for you and your friends
- Stick to stick game (ringing out is different from hitting back)
- Interactive robots
- Pile of blocks (up to 10 times bigger than the previous versions)
- Laser wires in the game (to indicate collision areas)
- High-score list
- High-score table
- Chat

How to Play How to Play

Grab the colored sticks and aim for the most points. Pick up and place robots only if the robots can assist you - do not touch other blocks. Try to pile up as many blocks as you can without removing any blocks. Place your laser wires as needed to indicate collision areas. When one robot makes a mistake, you lose. The robot whose stick falls first or closest to the edge wins. A round ends when all robots either make a mistake or the ball comes inside the frame.

If you try to make a robot lose by placing blocks on top of them, the robots will change shape to avoid this. Placing a robot on top of a laser wire will result in the destruction of the laser wire and the robot. The difficulty can be adjusted by means of this screen.

Other features

- Six fields of play (3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8)
 - Multiple difficulty levels
 - Stick and ring ring out for easier control
 - Move the robots and other blocks
 - Animation
 - Robot friendly course
 - Collision detection
 - Real laser blaster
 - Optional audio

“Guerrilla des Tactiquer” is a Finnish action-shooter, that will take you around the world in order to destroy all the alien forces that are invading the surface of our planet. From a side scrolling shooter, where your goal is to shoot down all the enemies on a mission, Viper Attack is an arcade shoot-up, with a unique stylized animation and interesting bullet patterns, rich with inspiration from classic arcade games. It also includes Inertia control, to give an extra challenge and to give you more room to act. To attack the enemies you will be able to use ships equipped with cool powerups and weapons that will surely make you stand out from the others. Features 20 brutally levels 20 weapons 2 spaceships to choose from Inertia control 3 bonus stages Competitive high-score online leaderboard Spectacular real 3D graphics Geek Squad Team Leader Gilles Preisendanz About us We created Gillsoft in 2013. Our ambition is to bring unique games to the gamers. We want to focus on one genre, the Shoot-'em-Up Games, and not only on that genre. We want to include some other games as well, but we are not claiming to be good at everything. You will be able to play our games on many platforms, including Windows, Mac, PlayStation and PC. Replays of top players with high scores will be saved and made publicly available. We are always looking forward to talk with players, so if you have any idea about how to improve our games, we would love to hear about it, because that will help make our games better. You will find the support and servers in the corresponding forums. Feel free to visit the official sites of our games, or find the official forums in the Steam catalogue. Credits There are so many people involved in the process of making our games, that it would be impossible for us to name everyone. ReviewsReviews. There are plenty of game types to experience in the Gun Shots range of mobile games, but few have the massive range of gameplay modes on offer with Repack. Those who enjoy games that rely on luck will enjoy the many different worlds on offer, where you compete against the clock, the background or the computer. Those who prefer a more challenge-based approach will find numerous skirmish options to suit their style. ReviewsSingled Out 2Is Singled Out 2 the second game in this series that mixes the basic idea of shooting targets (from a gun) with scrolling levels and graphical styles that are worthy of a PS2 game? What you get here are pretty, spiky, bullet-hell-like sections, set up to be brutally challenging, but where every single stage may be beaten in under a minute thanks to the respawning targets (and their bullets) that litter the levels. Unlike the first game, though, the levels feature a much higher degree of challenge, which means it's difficult to predict which way you'll be flying, which is where the fun comes in. Although this is clearly a kind of game where you shouldn't take things too seriously, the wonderful variety of features, the outlandish style, and the bullet-hell gun battles help to ensure that the uninitiated will have an enjoyable time while the enthusiastic bullet hunter will find plenty to keep them coming back for more. Reviews Singled Out 2 is the sequel to Singled Out, the only mobile game that allows you to play bullet hell from a third-person perspective, with your targeting circle, crosshairs and health bar all shrunk down to one button, making the act of clearing a room a game of pure action. And what a game it is, mixing monster graphics, unique and polished controls and a challenging twist to create a mobile bullet hell experience of real, retail value. What's new:

On a cold, windy and misty afternoon, a drifter enters the small village of Fitzgibbons. While traveling through Bavaria last year, he put a stop here for a cup of coffee at the Guggelbar Water Tower before moving on. Now, he does a double take. The tower is an old, run down ruin with plenty of broken windows, sad, derelict, abandoned, empty. It seems eerie, haunting, and otherworldly. In the deepest parts of his mind, he wonders if it is just a dream, but in the harshest winds, he doesn't care. Inside he finds an old, tired inn with questionable drinks - a cup of coffee, the only one they had left. Sitting alone in the back corner, he studies the room. Peering through the broken windows there, he observes a man holding a little girl in a doorway across the way. Both are looking fearfully at the male traveler. "The weather's a nuisance. Has been all day," says the traveler, shivering, finding a cozy spot in one of the several empty tables. "And I'd hate to interrupt your festivities, but I'm really just looking to get a room. I get bad weather like this all the time and I have to be up in the Alps next week. I'm trying to keep from coming down with a cold on the mountain." He smiles and raises his empty mug. "I'd like to help," offers the strange man, "but I'm afraid my only room is the upper floors. I think one of the stairs is loose, in addition to the winch control panel, and a fire door across the way too. You could always move your table. And I'd be happy to get you a room." The traveler takes a long sip from his mug. The man and the little girl watch with fear until he smiles again. The traveler turns his attention to the man. "There are no stairs. There is one up, to the left of the front door." He shrugs, shivers, "And a fire door." After a long moment, the man asks, "You have a room." The traveler pauses for a moment, "Yes. I'd like a room"
